Hugh Boyd and David Arlington were fined $2 and costs each for drunkenness. The former paid his fine, and the latter, who hails from New Orleans, was discharged upon condition that he leave the city immediately.
Peter Carney, James Carney, Charles Kearns and Edward Newman were charged with stealing papers from Wm. MeNath, a newsboy. The four defendants are all small boys. Newman, the cidest, who came here from Pittsburgh, was fined $2, and committed in default. Peter Carney was fixed $2, but execution was suspended on payment of costs. The cases against James Carney and Charles Kearns were dismissed on account of their extreme youth. Specialties, and request an examination of BARRETT GORE.—J. P. Barrett, who was indicted by the grand jury of the Circuit Court on Monday for receiving stalen goods, could not be found yesterday when the three cases against him were called. TRUMAN IN THE FIELD AGAIN .- Wil-TRUMAN IN THE FIELD AGAIN.—Wil-bur Truman, of Bridgeport, addressed a large and enthusiastic temperance meet-ing at Centreville Sunday night. The meeting was a success in every respect. Mr. T. has accepted invitations to speak at various towns and cities in Eastern Ohio. He is an earnest, efficient worker in the temperance cause, and we are con-fident his efforts will be crowned with success.

The lad was picked up unconscious and carried into Silvey's drugstore, where he soon revived and walked home. He was apparently more frightened than hard.

Concerning the Manupagrune or Wire.—We last evening had an interview with Mr. Christian Hess, the well known clothler, concerning the grape crop and the wine prospects for the coming season. The manufacture of wine has become quite an industry in the Ohio Valley, and we know of no one more competent than Mr. Hess to furnish as with information concerning it.

Mr. Hess has thirty-four acres of ground between Martin's Ferry and Bridgeport, it wenty-five of which compose his vineyard. This vineyard is well known as "Mount Airy," and our readers would be surprised to learn that Mr. Hess sends the products of his vines to all parts of Unole Samuel's farm, from Maine to Texas. But as Mr. Hess told us more about the present crop of grapes, its quantity, etc., than he did about himself, we shall have more to say about them.

All vineyards in this vicinity have but a half crop this year, and a short one at that, For instance, last season Mr. Hess manufactured between 8,000 and 9,000 gallons of wine, and this year he will not exceed from 2,500 to 2,700 gallons. The juice of the Catawbas weighs this year from 70 to 78 on the sugar scale, whereas last year it weighed as high as 85. The wine this year will have a nice flavor, but it will be only a medium wine. The Concord grape this year yielded as much as 70 and 75 on the sugar scale, whereas last year it weighed as high as 85. The wine this year will have a nice flavor, but it will be only a medium wine. The Concord grape this year yielded as much as 70 and 75 on the sugar scale, which is very good for the Concord.

Neither Mr. Hess nor Capt. Crawford, whose vineyard is immediately adjoining, over before had such short crops. The hills along the river have heretofere been cenerally considered cortain of very law of the control of the co whose vinerard is immediately adjoin-ing, ever before had such short crops. The hills along the river have heretofore been generally considered certain of very fair crops. Good grapes should yield about four gallons of wine to the bushel, but this year the yield has averaged only about three gailons to the bushel. The grapes sell at two and two and a hall cents a pound this year, when last year, with an immense crop, they brought from three to four cents a pound. This may appear singular, but Mr. Hess assures us that it is a fact, and says in explanation that on account of the hard times there is no market for wire.

Dry weather during the first part of the bry weather airing an also have summer injured the crop greatly. Late in the summer the weather was too at the granes to properly "boil," in the summer the weather was too wet for the grapes to properly "boil," and consequently many of them rotted. The Concord wine has no market, the demand being exceedingly light. The Catawba wine, on the contrary, when from two to three years old, retails at $1 00 and $1 25 per gallon.

But notwithstanding the shortness of the crop this year, there will be

But notwithstanding the shortness of the crop this year, there will be no difference in the price of wine. The price is kept down by the California wine, which is brought here and sold at $1.00 per gallon. The California wine is decidedly alcoholic, contains a good deal of sugar matter, and is considered superior to the other native wines. Our friend Heas tells us that the California wine and our own Catawha wine mixed together make a delightful drink.

Mr. Hess has sold in one season as much as 5,000 gallons of wine, but last year he only disposed of some 3,000 gallons.

and Johnson.—The Court met at the usual hour yesterday morning.

But little business was transacted, owing to the sickness of Judge Moore, and to the fact that Judge Haymond had been counsel in some of the cases presented.

A writ of error was granted in the case of Ls Fever vs. Billmyer, and an appeal in the case of Alphin vs. Callaghan's administrates.
